Re: In the Matter of Petition of USTelecom for Forbearance Pursuant to 47 U.S.C. Section 160(c); WC Docket No. 18-141; Category 1

Dear FCC,

I live right in the city of San Francisco, so it is hard to believe that until Sonic came to to my neighborhood with fiber, I had the choice of one provider for broadband. No other internet service reached my street.

Yes, Comcast cable ruled. And as anyone who has ever had Comcast knows, their guarantee is that prices go up almost monthly and customer service is an unknown concept.

Sonic was met with a collective cheer from nearly everyone on my block. At last, relief from the monopoly of Comcast--- and what a contrast to Comcast.

At Sonic a real person answered the phone and made installation appointments. Installation was on time and service has been consistent ever since. Sonic actually promises and delivers faster service, lower price, along with a telephone line. Sort of like a local business in the old days, only this time for ripping fast internet. Any problems or questions? Call and talk immediately with a knowledgeable technician.

We absolutely need to maintain net neutrality and support more competition in broadband. All communities should have the choice of broadband providers and never again be held captive to one monopoly service who makes the rules.

Do the right thing. Support broadband competition.
